

PRIVACY POLICY

Software Joint is concerned and committed towards privacy, and this document is created to show that commitment. The following section discloses the privacy practices and privacy policy for softwarejoint.com

Collection of information about visitors

Software Joint may collect or track the home server domain names, mail addresses, downloaded files, search engine, OS and the type of client system & browsers of the visitor of Softwarejoint.com. We may also collect the data of email addresses of clients who connect to us via email. Software Joint may also collect and store data of visitors filled through any registration forms, surveys, email entries, etc. at Software Joint.

Software Joint may also place internet cookies on the visitor's hard drive. These cookies have individual data such as names, organisation name, password, user-name, screen preferences and the pages visited. When the visitor revisits Softwarejoint.com, the cookies use the saved data to customise the visitor's experience. Users may choose to decline the internet cookies.

Use of collected personal data

Software Joint may use the personal data collected for editorial/feedback purposes, marketing and promotional purpose, statistical analysis, content improvement and, for improving the layout and content of softwarejoint.com. However, the data collected would never be shared with the parties including marketing firms. Individual information such as name, age, mobile number, email and any other personal information of visitors that is voluntarily provided to Software Joint may be used for future calls and emails regarding new Software Joint services, products and upcoming events.

Security Measures

Software Joint has implemented various security features to prevent unauthorised use of personal information. All employees of Software Joint are required to certify that they understand the confidentiality of personal information and Software Joint will take appropriate action against anyone who is found to be disobeying the privacy policy. However, please be aware that Software Joint is not responsible for any leak of information through email communication. For any private communication, you may contact Software Joint at: 1122, Sector A, Pocket A, Vasant Kunj, New Delhi, India - 110070.

Software Joint's right to contact users

Software Joint reserves the right to contact any visitor who connected to Software Joint regarding it's services and other promotional request made through web services.

Software Joint's right to change any Privacy Policy

Software Joint reserves the right to change this Privacy Policy at any time without any notice to anyone. Any change to the Privacy Policy would be effective to any visitor who visits softwarejoint.com.

Software Joint Pvt. Ltd.

Contact Information

You are welcome to connect to Software Joint regarding any privacy terms via email or postal mail.